Their examples molded

Miss McBurney

Miss McBurney, who teaches in the Commercial Department and holds the position of CMEA Secretary, formerly taught commercial subjects at Cecil High School where she also worked as Guidance Counselor. She is a graduate of Geneva College and has taught for 35 years.

Dedicating this book to her is a small token of our regard. We could never fully repay her for the personal interest that she has shown in each student and for the many years which she has given. Her influence has touched everyone, and we thank her for her understanding help, thoughtfulness, and consideration.

CATION

Throughout their high school careers, students look up to certain teachers who represent qualities which they admire and wish to attain. The 1961 Elmanac staff has dedicated with gratitude this book to two such teachers.

Mrs. Brock

Mrs. Brock, a Wilson College graduate, experienced 41 years of teaching and served for many years as a valuable adviser for the Gunners Gazette, the Canonsburg High School newspaper. At present she is a Senior Class adviser.

Her influence upon those who have sat in her classes has been evident in their admiration, respect, and love for her. Her tactful and gracious ways have taught them the valuable lesson of kindness, and her classes have taught them perseverence and discipline. For this we thank her and offer this book in dedication to her.

ITS

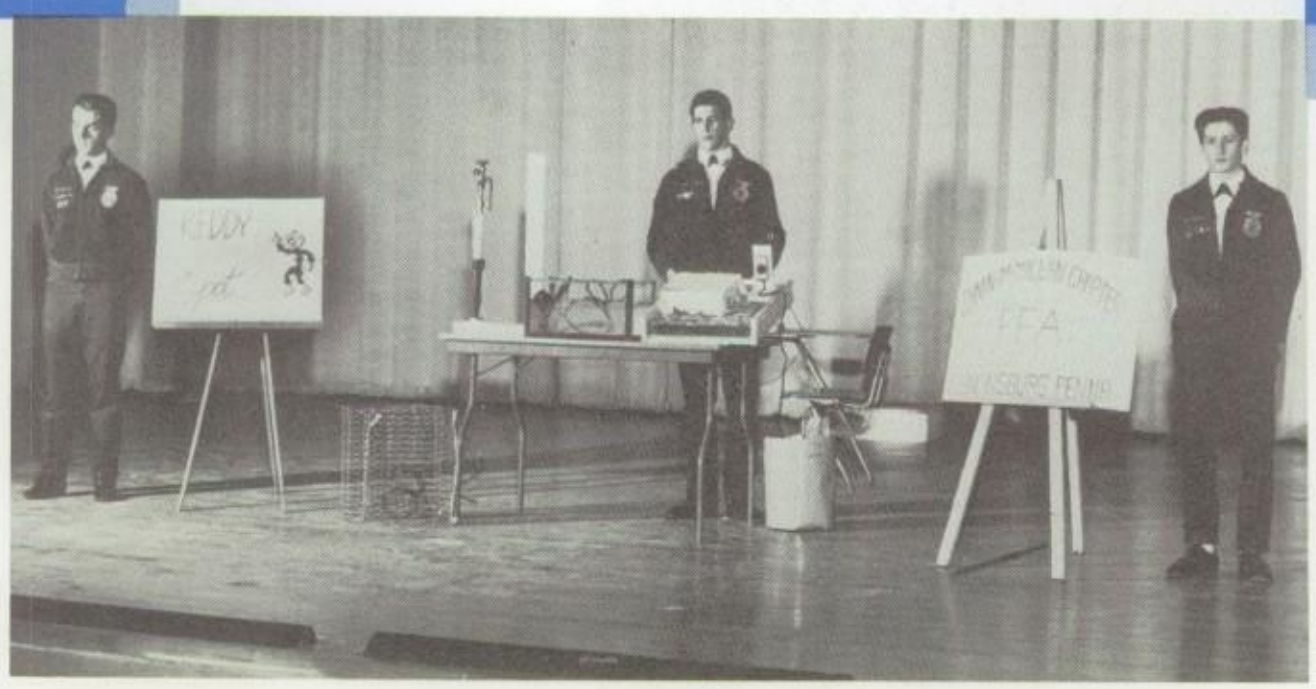
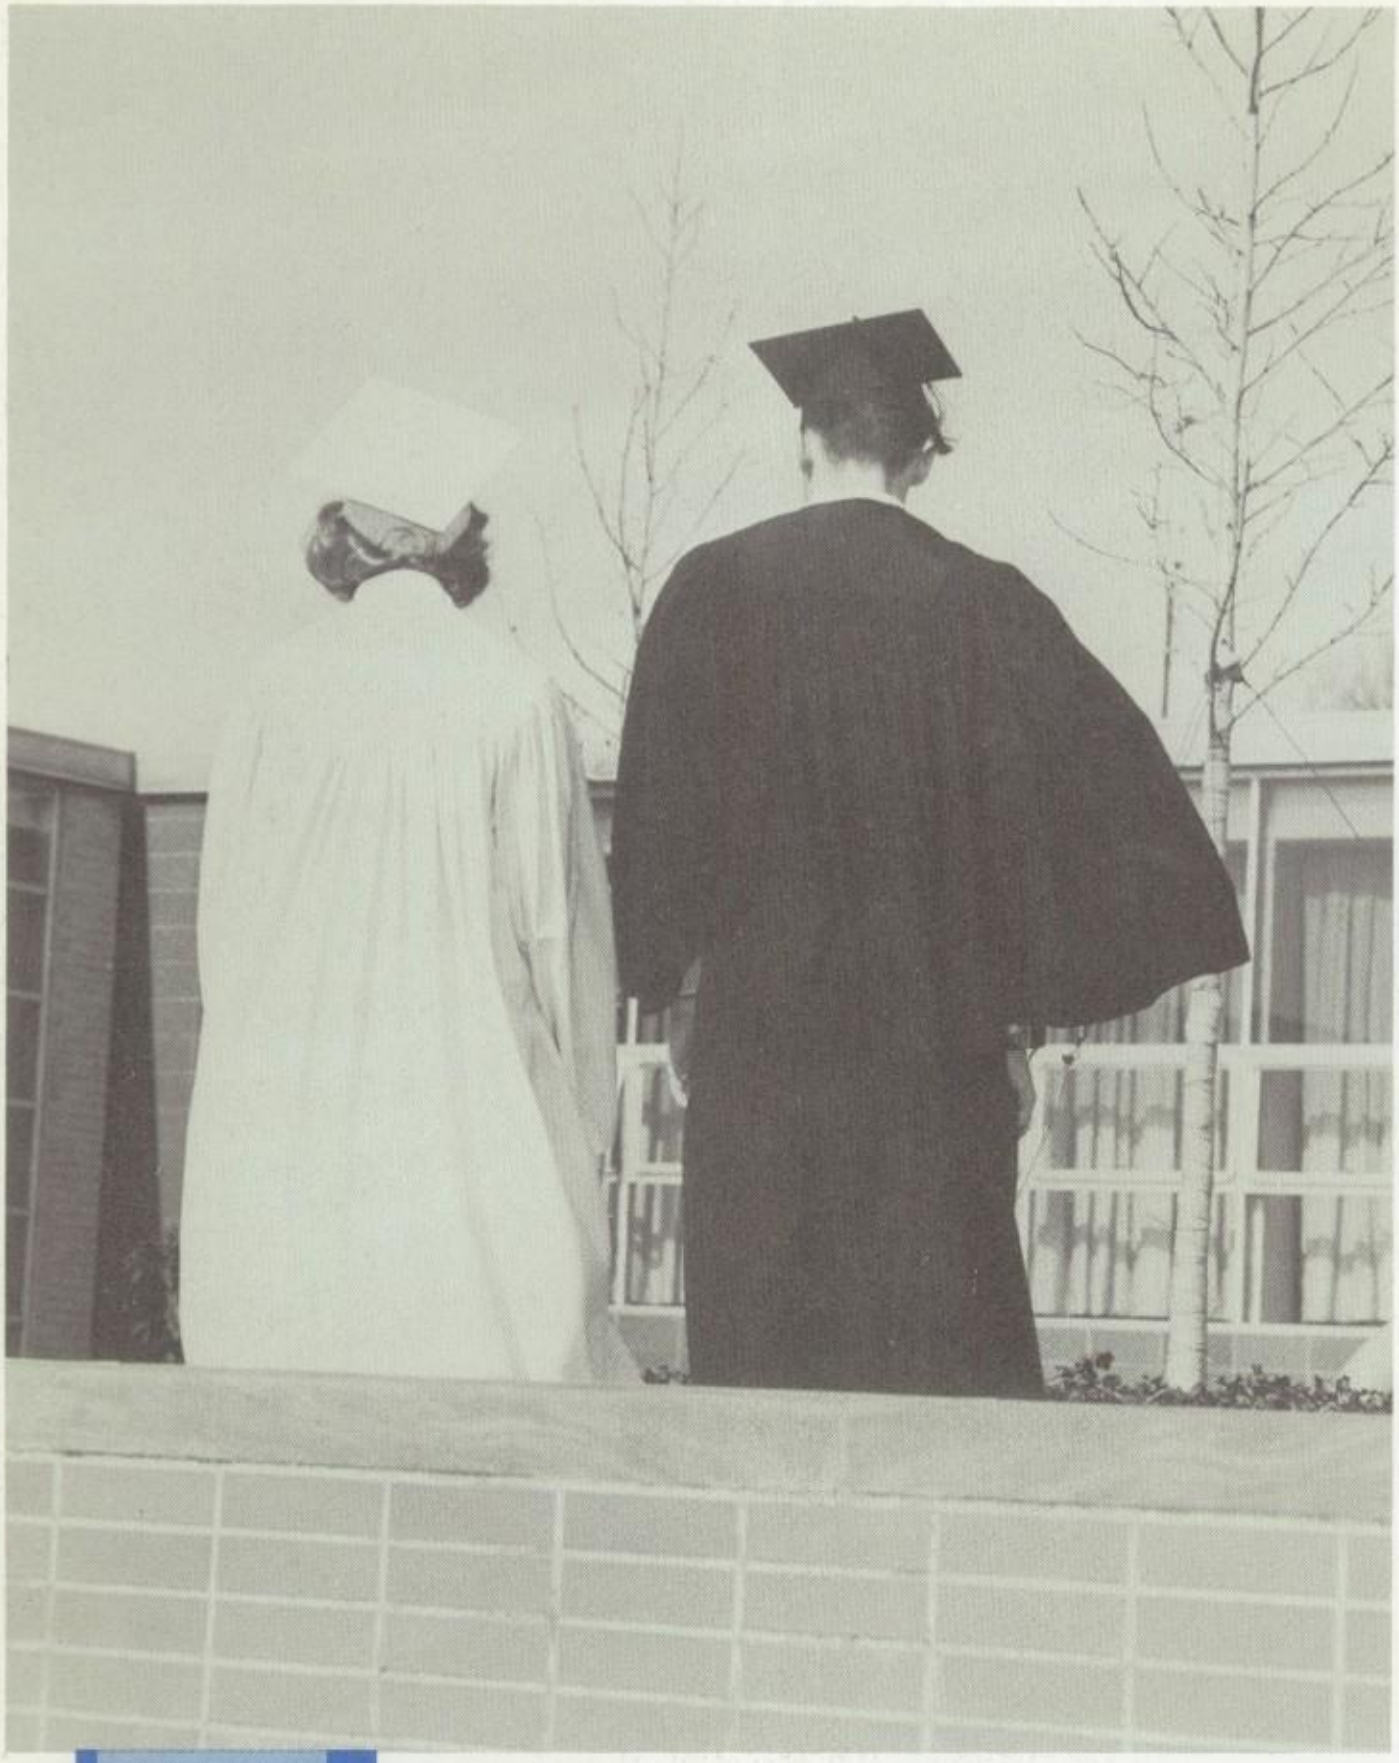
HIGHLIGHTS





Sophomores, painfully aware of their lack of experience; Juniors, conscious of their growing knowledge; and Seniors, confident and eager to accept new responsibilities—each of us faced challenges as a new school year began. We worked and played with vigor gained from months of summer relaxation; as the year wore on and pressures increased, we sometimes doubted our ability to cope with term papers, finals, and the many responsibilities we had so blithely assumed. Winter dragged and wearily we wondered if spring would ever come. Its eventual arrival provided release from these tensions with the beginning of the busy, exciting Commencement season and, caught up by the exultant promise of summer freedom, we soon forgot our weariness.

ATHLETICS

Rousing Pep Committee displays vigor.

The 1960 football season saw many changes in the Canon-McMillan team. Determined to develop a coordinated, successful team, new coach, Mr. Paesano, insisted on strenuous summer practice and football camp where the team practiced hard and learned to work together as a unit.

Starting out with a bang, the team defeated arch-rival Chartiers, 6-0. Next a strong Munhall team downed them. Trying to avenge this defeat, Big Macs met Mt. Lebanon for another trouncing. With a sure victory against a slow Glassport team, the boys played accordingly and just managed a tie of 7-7. Again came a losing score, 33-0, against our rival, Wash Hi.

On Parents' Night the boys played real football and hit the winning path by turning back strong Baldwin 26-20 in a last minute victory surge. Beth-Center snowed the team 28-0; Trinity scored 28 to our 20. In the last game of the season Big Macs fought to a close victory, 12-6, against Chartiers Valley.

With 2 wins, 6 losses, and a tie the team had a taste of future success for the school. As evidence of the quality of Canon-McMillan's playing, four players were chosen for the Western Conference All-Star Squad. Andy Koller, John Mohler, Pat Ross, and Len Rettinger won this honor for our new school.

Fall season brought improvements.

C-M hoopsters displayed vigor and skilled playing as they successfully completed their 1960-1961 season with a seasonal record 14-9 and a sectional record of 6-6. The highlight of the exciting season was a thrilling 42-41 win over Wash High, the first such victory since 1949.

Indicative of the growing strength of the team is the fact that five of the varsity lettermen are underclassmen. This, combined with the skill of the new coach, Tom Stanko, promises well for the future of the team.

Letter winners this year included: Junior, Thornton (296 pts.), Junior, Tyrone Anderson (277 pts.), Junior, Bob Lamb (221 pts.), Junior, Neil Veydt (175 pts.), Junior, Ron Radinsky (154 pts.), Senior, Ron Sacco (41 pts.), and Senior, Don Gossett (34 pts.).

Through the hard training and expert coaching of Andrew Puchany and Eugene Bowman, Canon-McMillan wrestlers had a successful 1961 wrestling season with seven wins and seven losses.

Opening match with Claysville was held on the Big Mac mats. After defeating Claysville in the first match 51 to 11, Baldwin 38 to 9, and Chartiers 31 to 16, Canon-McMillan suffered first loss from Trinity with a 42 to 17 score.

Two more losses followed: Waynesburg, 40 to 11, and Washington, 22 to 26. However, the Big Macs came back with a victory over Chartiers, 28 to 21. After losing a close match with Burgettstown, 24 to 21, Big Macs took another loss from German, 18 to 25. Grapplers came back to beat Burgettstown, 33 to 18. They lost the following two matches to Trinity 14 to 33, and Waynesburg, 19 to 27, but overcame Claysville with a 44 to 5 score and defeated Avella with score of 37 to 17.

The baseball team was put through a rigorous training period by Coaches Costa and Manzo. The team began practice in the Chapel Gym the first week in March, where the boys got in shape with daily calisthenics and playing basketball. With less than a month to pick their team, Coaches Costa and Manzo were forced to hold outdoor practices under sometimes very bad conditions. The players, realizing the limited time they had, made the best of it and worked hard, showing the hustle and spirit which they hoped would guide them through a winning season.

Hard working band and majorettes with the help of their director, Mr. Scarci, and head majorette, Donna Kuchera, had a very busy year. As one of their major activities, they provided the entertainment during half-time shows at football games. They marched in several parades in the surrounding area and performed in a Frontier Day at Kennywood Park. Throughout the summer, the band and majorettes practiced separately three days a week; and two weeks before school started, they joined together and practiced five days a week. The band and majorettes with the chorus sponsored the Band and Chorus Dance in November. Later in the year, the band, majorettes, and the chorus combined efforts to present the annual Spring Concert.

Band and majorettes worked diligently.

Future farmers and homemakers gained experience.

Learning about and practicing good agricultural principles became a part of the lives of the FFA members. As one of the most active and successful C-M clubs, FFA sent a demonstration team to Harrisburg for the Vocational Agricultural Demonstration Contest. Team's demonstration was called "Reddy-on-the-Spot," and had the distinction of winning 9th place honors in state competition. FFA members sponsored a wild-game banquet and sold French fries at home football games.

Canon-McMillan chapter of Future Homemakers of America participated in a variety of activities, including a sub-regional meeting held at Canon-McMillan on November 5, 1960. Four hundred girls represented chapters from Allegheny, Butler, Greene, Lawrence, and Washington counties.

As one of their service projects for the year, the 35 members of the club served at several of the banquets held in our cafeteria and, as an added responsibility, made coffee which they placed in the teachers' room.

With their motto, "Toward New Horizons," reminding the girls that their contributions to home life today will influence the kind of homes they have tomorrow, they endeavored to fulfill the many purposes of the club, one of which was to promote growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking.

Future teachers and nurses practiced fundamentals.

Fifty-seven members of the Future Teachers of America studied the aspects of teaching and discussed various characteristics necessary for a good teacher. A panel of teachers answered many questions that members presented. Senior members gained practical teaching experience by replacing teachers in homerooms. The club sponsored Student Administration Day and also visited a college. Future Teachers of America helped those interested in teaching and interested more students in this profession.

Clubs reached high goals.

Junior Achievement combined business with pleasure as groups composed of students from Canon-McMillan, Chartiers, and Peters Township organized their own business firms under the sponsorship of Pennsylvania Transformer Company, Radio Corporation of America, Bell Telephone, Fort Pitt Bridge Works, and Canonsburg Pottery.

With the aid of Mr. Singer, school adviser, and Mr. Ruggerio, program director, students sold stock in their companies and then manufactured and sold their products. After expenses were paid, the companies, Janco, Jamco I, Jamco II, J. A. Bell Hop, and Japco divided the profits among the stockholders. In this way, junior businessmen learned through experience the intricate procedures in business.

Commercial Club assisted its members by giving them added knowledge of business procedures and principles.

Visits to the Canonsburg Pottery, Fort Pitt Bridge Works, R. C. A., American Brake Shoe Company, and the Joy Manufacturing Company acquainted members with modern, well-organized offices. Requests extended to business men and women to address the club and to give the qualifications desired in future employees brought a closer relationship between businesses and students. Speakers and tours helped develop an intelligent interest in business life.

The French Club, in its second year of organization, continued in the footsteps of last year's charter members. Keeping in mind the purpose of the club, to further the study of the French language, they corresponded with teenagers in France and Belgium. The club also sponsored the French dance, an annual affair. As the organization's service project, they operated the concession stand during a football game. These activities, in addition to the regular meetings, helped the members to gain a further understanding of the French language and culture.

Hi-Y, a service club, functioned to achieve a more Christian way of living by developing personal integrity, self discipline, and a growing sense of personal worth.

For their service project this year, they combined their efforts with Tri-Hi-Y and held a Valentine party for the children at St. Paul's Orphanage.

Ca-Mac and librarians supplied information.

The Ca-Mac staff produced an interesting and informative newspaper throughout the school year. Under competent guidance, reporters and staff members reported the latest school news to the student body. Each staff member experienced a feeling of pride and accomplishment after the sale and distribution of the six editions. Through much time and energy, the staff created an outstanding school newspaper.

Student Council greatly aided the progress of the school year. The Council, composed of representatives from each homeroom, sponsored the "Dress Right" campaign, conducted class elections, approved club charters, edited the Student Handbook, and sponsored the Talent Show and the Student Convention Assembly. Through the public address system and homeroom representatives, the students learned of each weekly meeting and became familiar with the activities of the school and the reasons governing the Council's decisions.

Service became their motto.

Stage crew, usherettes, and office helpers served the school in many capacities.

Handling the audio and visual equipment both on and off the stage, the members of the stage crew exhibited their training and skill at nearly all school functions, including the Talent Show and the class plays.

By selling programs and ushering at all home sports events where they maintained order and courtesy, the helpful usherettes gave visitors to Canon-McMillan a favorable impression of the school and its students.

Sorting, filing, and typing made up some of the necessary routine tasks that the office helpers performed in the guidance office and the general office. Each helper gave a period everyday to help keep the school running efficiently.

Birdie, Marie Esselstyn; Lucy, Gerry Zaccone; Amantha, Helen Kesnowski; and Hildegarde, Carol Martin, relate details of death of Nettie, Diane Klink, to Detective O'Finn, Byron Smialek.

Play displays senior talent.

Detective O'Finn, Byron Smialek, threatens violence to Kramer, Richard Barton, to insure secrecy.

December 14 and 15 served as memorable days for the seniors who presented Bull in a China Shop, directed by Mr. August Bethem.

Detective Dennis O'Finn succeeded in finding one of six old spinsters who had poisoned two of her spinster boarders to get his attention. How Detective O'Finn solved the mystery and managed to escape the clutches of the old maids proved quite entertaining.

Old maids plot victim's death.

Skillfully motivated play enacted by Juniors.

Cast takes last glimpse of lines before going on stage.

Under the direction of Miss Paulochik and Mr. Warne the Junior Class presented a comedy, No More Homework. Spurred by wishful thinking, the actors vividly portrayed the situation of a school where the students supervised the administrators and teachers amid delightful confusion. The play's unusual twist in the last act made the audience itself a part of the drama.

The annual Talent Show, sponsored by the Varsity Club, provided talented students with the opportunity to display ability in many arts. A wide variety of acts showed student interest in successful school affairs. Long hours of practicing and arranging put forth by participants and sponsors proved well worth their while as the show received a warm welcome from students and faculty.

Talented performers entertained audience.

Entertainment holds attention of chaperones and guests.

French dance provided evening at Moulin Rouge.

For many who attended the French Club Dance, the Moulin Rouge became a reality. Candlelit tables, red and black decorations, and attendants in French costumes established this romantic setting. To add further to the local color, the entertainment provided French songs, the Can Can, and other acts typical of native France. The Debonaires supplied music for dancing.

Harry Holloway, Denny Colusci, Wilma Kausek, and Lou Guadagni sing French version of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

"A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" fits the occasion as Susan Schmidt is crowned Harvest Queen.

Fall brings Autumn Ecstasy.

Couples dance to mood-setting music of Lee Barrett.

Autumn Ecstasy, sponsored by the Senior Class, arrayed the gym with the colorful splendor of autumn. Golden cornstalks, amber and red leaves, and various shades of crepe paper and pumpkins created a decorative danceland. Lee Barrett set the mood for a glowing evening as students displayed ability in dancing to a variety of songs. To highlight the affair Susan Schmidt reigned as queen with Janice Loffert as first attendant and Wilma Kausek, second attendant.

Greetings precede a pleasant evening.

Students pause for refreshments between dances.

Dancers Whirled under Mistletoe Magic.

The Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Junior Class, lifted Christmas spirits with gaily lighted Christmas trees and songs played by Russ Romero and his orchestra. Participation in the Mexican hat dance, the bunny hop, and the hokey pokey provided many laughs and added to the evening's enjoyment.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria where decorations followed the yuletide theme.

Music furnished by Russ Romero created a magical atmosphere for dancers.

For two years you have had the opportunity to participate in a comprehensive program in which our objectives were to meet and satisfy your interests, desires, and needs. How well we have succeeded can only be measured in terms of your future accomplishments. To you as individuals, your success was based upon the extent of your efforts—upon how much you put into it.

Upon the completion of high school you should have set your sights for new horizons. Your educational appetites have only been temporarily appeased. Within you must exist a burning desire to grasp whatever personal and vicarious educational experiences and opportunities available. To the high school graduate whose formal schooling must cease, may I hope that you continue always to improve, to learn, to seek more knowledge; to the graduates who are fortunate to enter higher institutions, may I encourage you to seek a broad and well-rounded education. Never be satisfied with just enough to get by but absorb all and the best as you approach the future horizons. To be better prepared to face the future is to hasten personal satisfaction, happiness, and success.

As you of course know, you have not only my best wishes for your success but my fullest confidence that you will carry with honor and pride the standards and distinction of Canon-McMillan.

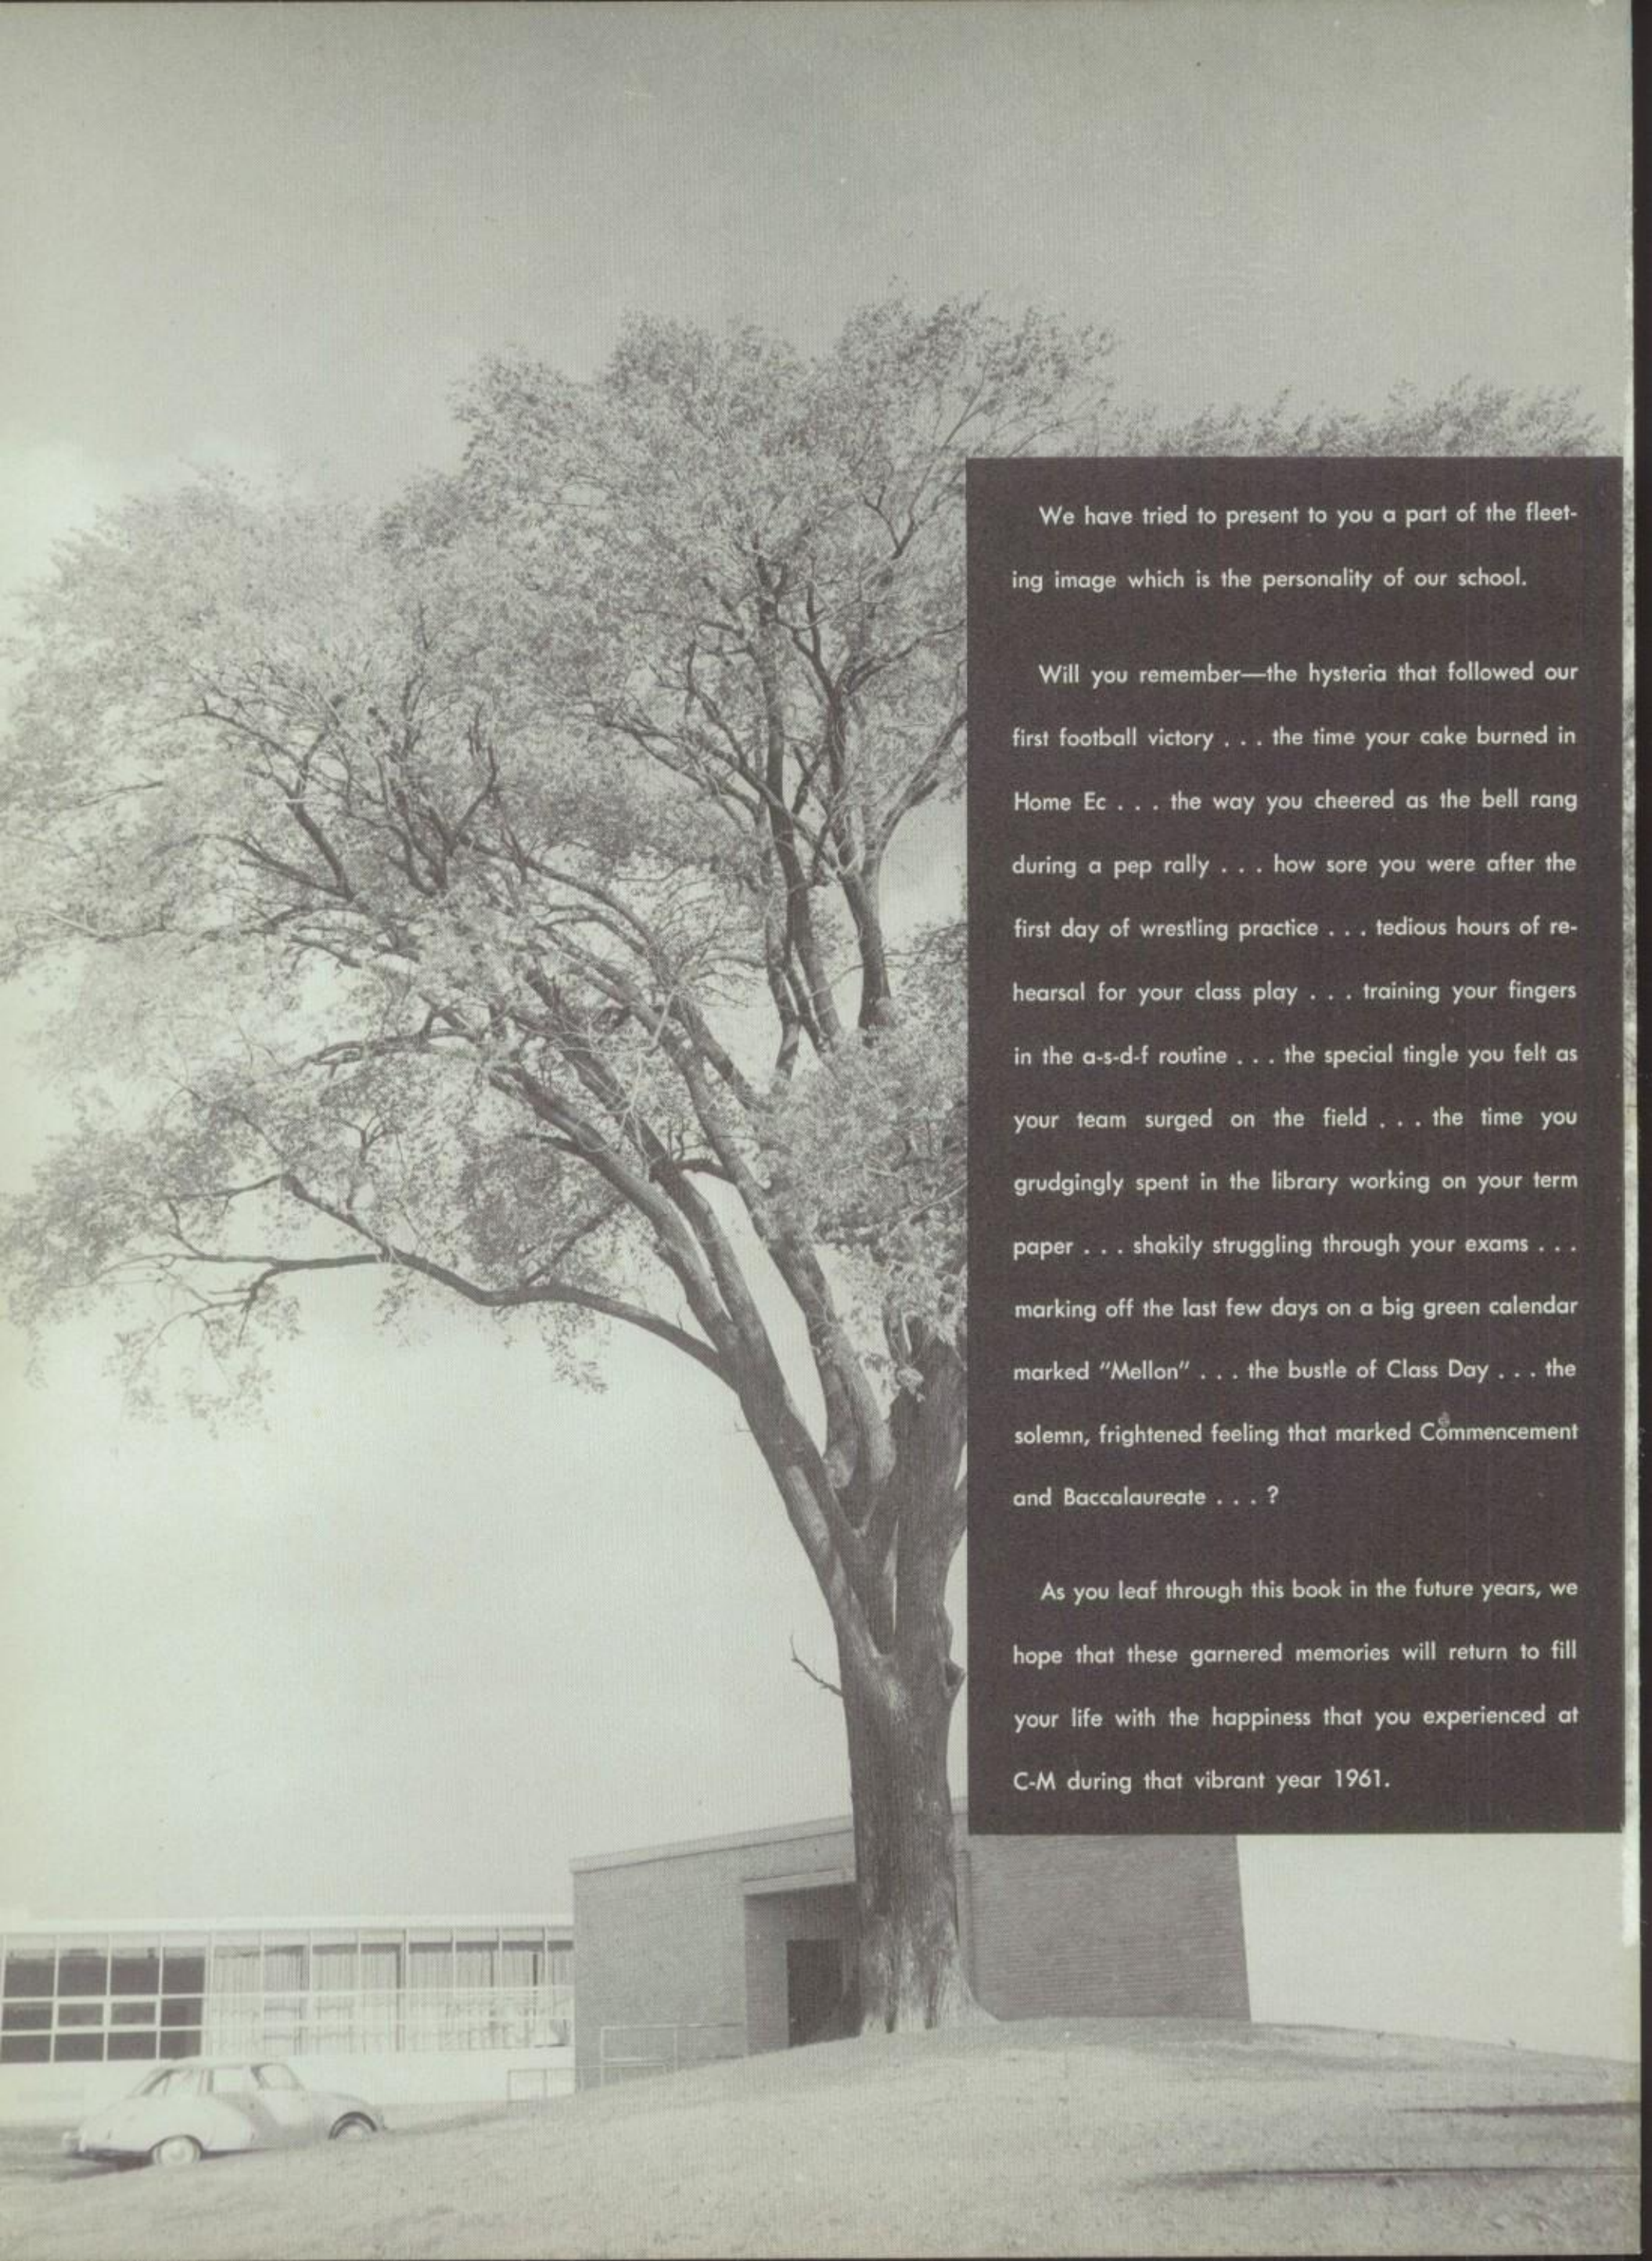
EDWARDS BROTHERS, INC.
Ann Arbor, Michigan



We have tried to present to you a part of the fleeting image which is the personality of our school.

Will you remember—the hysteria that followed our first football victory . . . the time your cake burned in Home Ec . . . the way you cheered as the bell rang during a pep rally . . . how sore you were after the first day of wrestling practice . . . tedious hours of rehearsal for your class play . . . training your fingers in the a-s-d-f routine . . . the special tingle you felt as your team surged on the field . . . the time you grudgingly spent in the library working on your term paper . . . shakily struggling through your exams . . . marking off the last few days on a big green calendar marked "Mellon" . . . the bustle of Class Day . . . the solemn, frightened feeling that marked Commencement and Baccalaureate . . . ?

As you leaf through this book in the future years, we hope that these garnered memories will return to fill your life with the happiness that you experienced at C-M during that vibrant year 1961.
